Dear Dr Burleigh.

In my genealogical research have been directed to you.

This is a long story so hope you will bear with me. The one who causes me all the concern is my emigrant forebear, Alexander (the Cooper) McMillan (spelled on the petitions etc., written by someone else, as McMullan) a native of Lockaber, Scotland, married to Margaret McDonald, of the Kippoch MacD., who in 1809 bought 25.5 Lochiel, Glengarry Co., where he lived until his death some 8 years later.

His brother Angus bought lot 23.6 Lochiel in 1809 too, which his son Duncan, as heir-at-law, sold in 1818. Tradition tells us that two other brothers, whose names we do not know, went farther west in Ontario and after parting, they never saw each other again.

We never heard any other County mentioned than Glengarry. But there is no mention of them in the records of the County until the purchases of land were made. (I never could understand why, when others received free grants, they bought - they were not affluent.). Neither is there any baptised records in any of the parishes within the County, that concerns the family: Duncan, Ewen (b 1792), John, Dougal, Alex^r, Margaret

Nancy, Lauchlin

Little by little, I came to the conclusion that Elengarry could not have been the original place of settlement. Recently I uncovered the fact that on Feb 5, 1793, Adolphustown, (Reel C-2189 McMisc 131, 132, 133, 134, 135) petitions for land in Sophiaburgh were presented by Alex^r, Angus, Hugh (Ewen), Patrick (Peter) McMullan as well as Catherine Dettlor alias McMullan dau. Valentine Dettlor WEL. Each was recommended for 200 ac. Upon writing to Crown Lands for locations, they replied " --- Even though Alex^r, Angus, Hugh & Patrick McMullan all petitioned the Lt. Gov-in-Council & apparently received grants, for the Order in Council for their respective grants were subsequently passed on Aug 8, 1798. I regret that I was unable to discover the exact location of their land."

Yesterday I went over the List of WELoyalists in National Archives (MG 9 D4 Vol 9) and in Appendix B I discover:

McMullan, Neil	Treasury L	from Staten Island
" John	"	Emig. from Ireland.
" Alex ^r	"	" " "
" Angus	"	" " "
" Cath	"	" " "
" Patrick	"	" " "
" John	"	" " "
" Hugh.	"	" " "

On both Alex^r's & Angus' B of S. - appeared the name of John Hooke Campbell. I investigated and discovered he was a son of Alex^r Campbell WEL and Mary McMillan, dau. Dougal McMillan (Mullan) who died in Br. forces during Am. Rev., and his wife Isabella, who you belong under Angus.

Meridian Reunion at Iowa Falls. Ia. Aug. 8, 1937.

I wish I could come to your picnic

I'm sorry I'm so far away

But here is a thought for your meeting,

A thought that perhaps you will say.

"Gene" (called Jenny)

Won't you walk into my parlor, said "Gene", looking shy.
I want to know your history, nor can I tell you why,
But facts on family charm me and make me want to know
Just how and what, with whom and when, you've gone and done

Ten spools did Hugh start rolling, Hugh and his wife Christine
A Cameron come from Scotland with babe in arms I ween,
That babe was Hugh I fancy, born in Loch Eil, he said.
I wonder why they left there, and came here as they did.

These spools I've tried to follow as onward they gaily rolled Over and under and onward e'er weaving a pattern I'm told.
Sometimes they unroll so quickly and sometimes they roll out of Ah! Sometimes I wonder about them, yes wonder far into the night.

John, eldest son, made a prolific start,
His children, their children, have followed the "mart".
One daughter back to Scotland, two sons to New Orleans.
Descendant now in Cuba, Utah, Kansas too it seems,
Calif., Montana or "York" state and others all over the map.
Have you met them, or seen them I wonder? At news of them e'er will we snap.

Eldest daughter, Sarah Roberts took her spool and went with James 'Cross the border o'er to Kingston, lived there 1810, it seems.
One daughter a Denis married, another a MacLean,
The rest in fog and dust are lost no matter how I strain.
There's a "Liza Roberts" somewhere, but I cannot find the link
Maybe you can tell the story, write it down for me in ink.

Our Hugh to Edolphustown Canada went

With a wife Lydia of Quaker intent,

Then out to Erie, 10 children they raised

Who married and scattered and far places praised

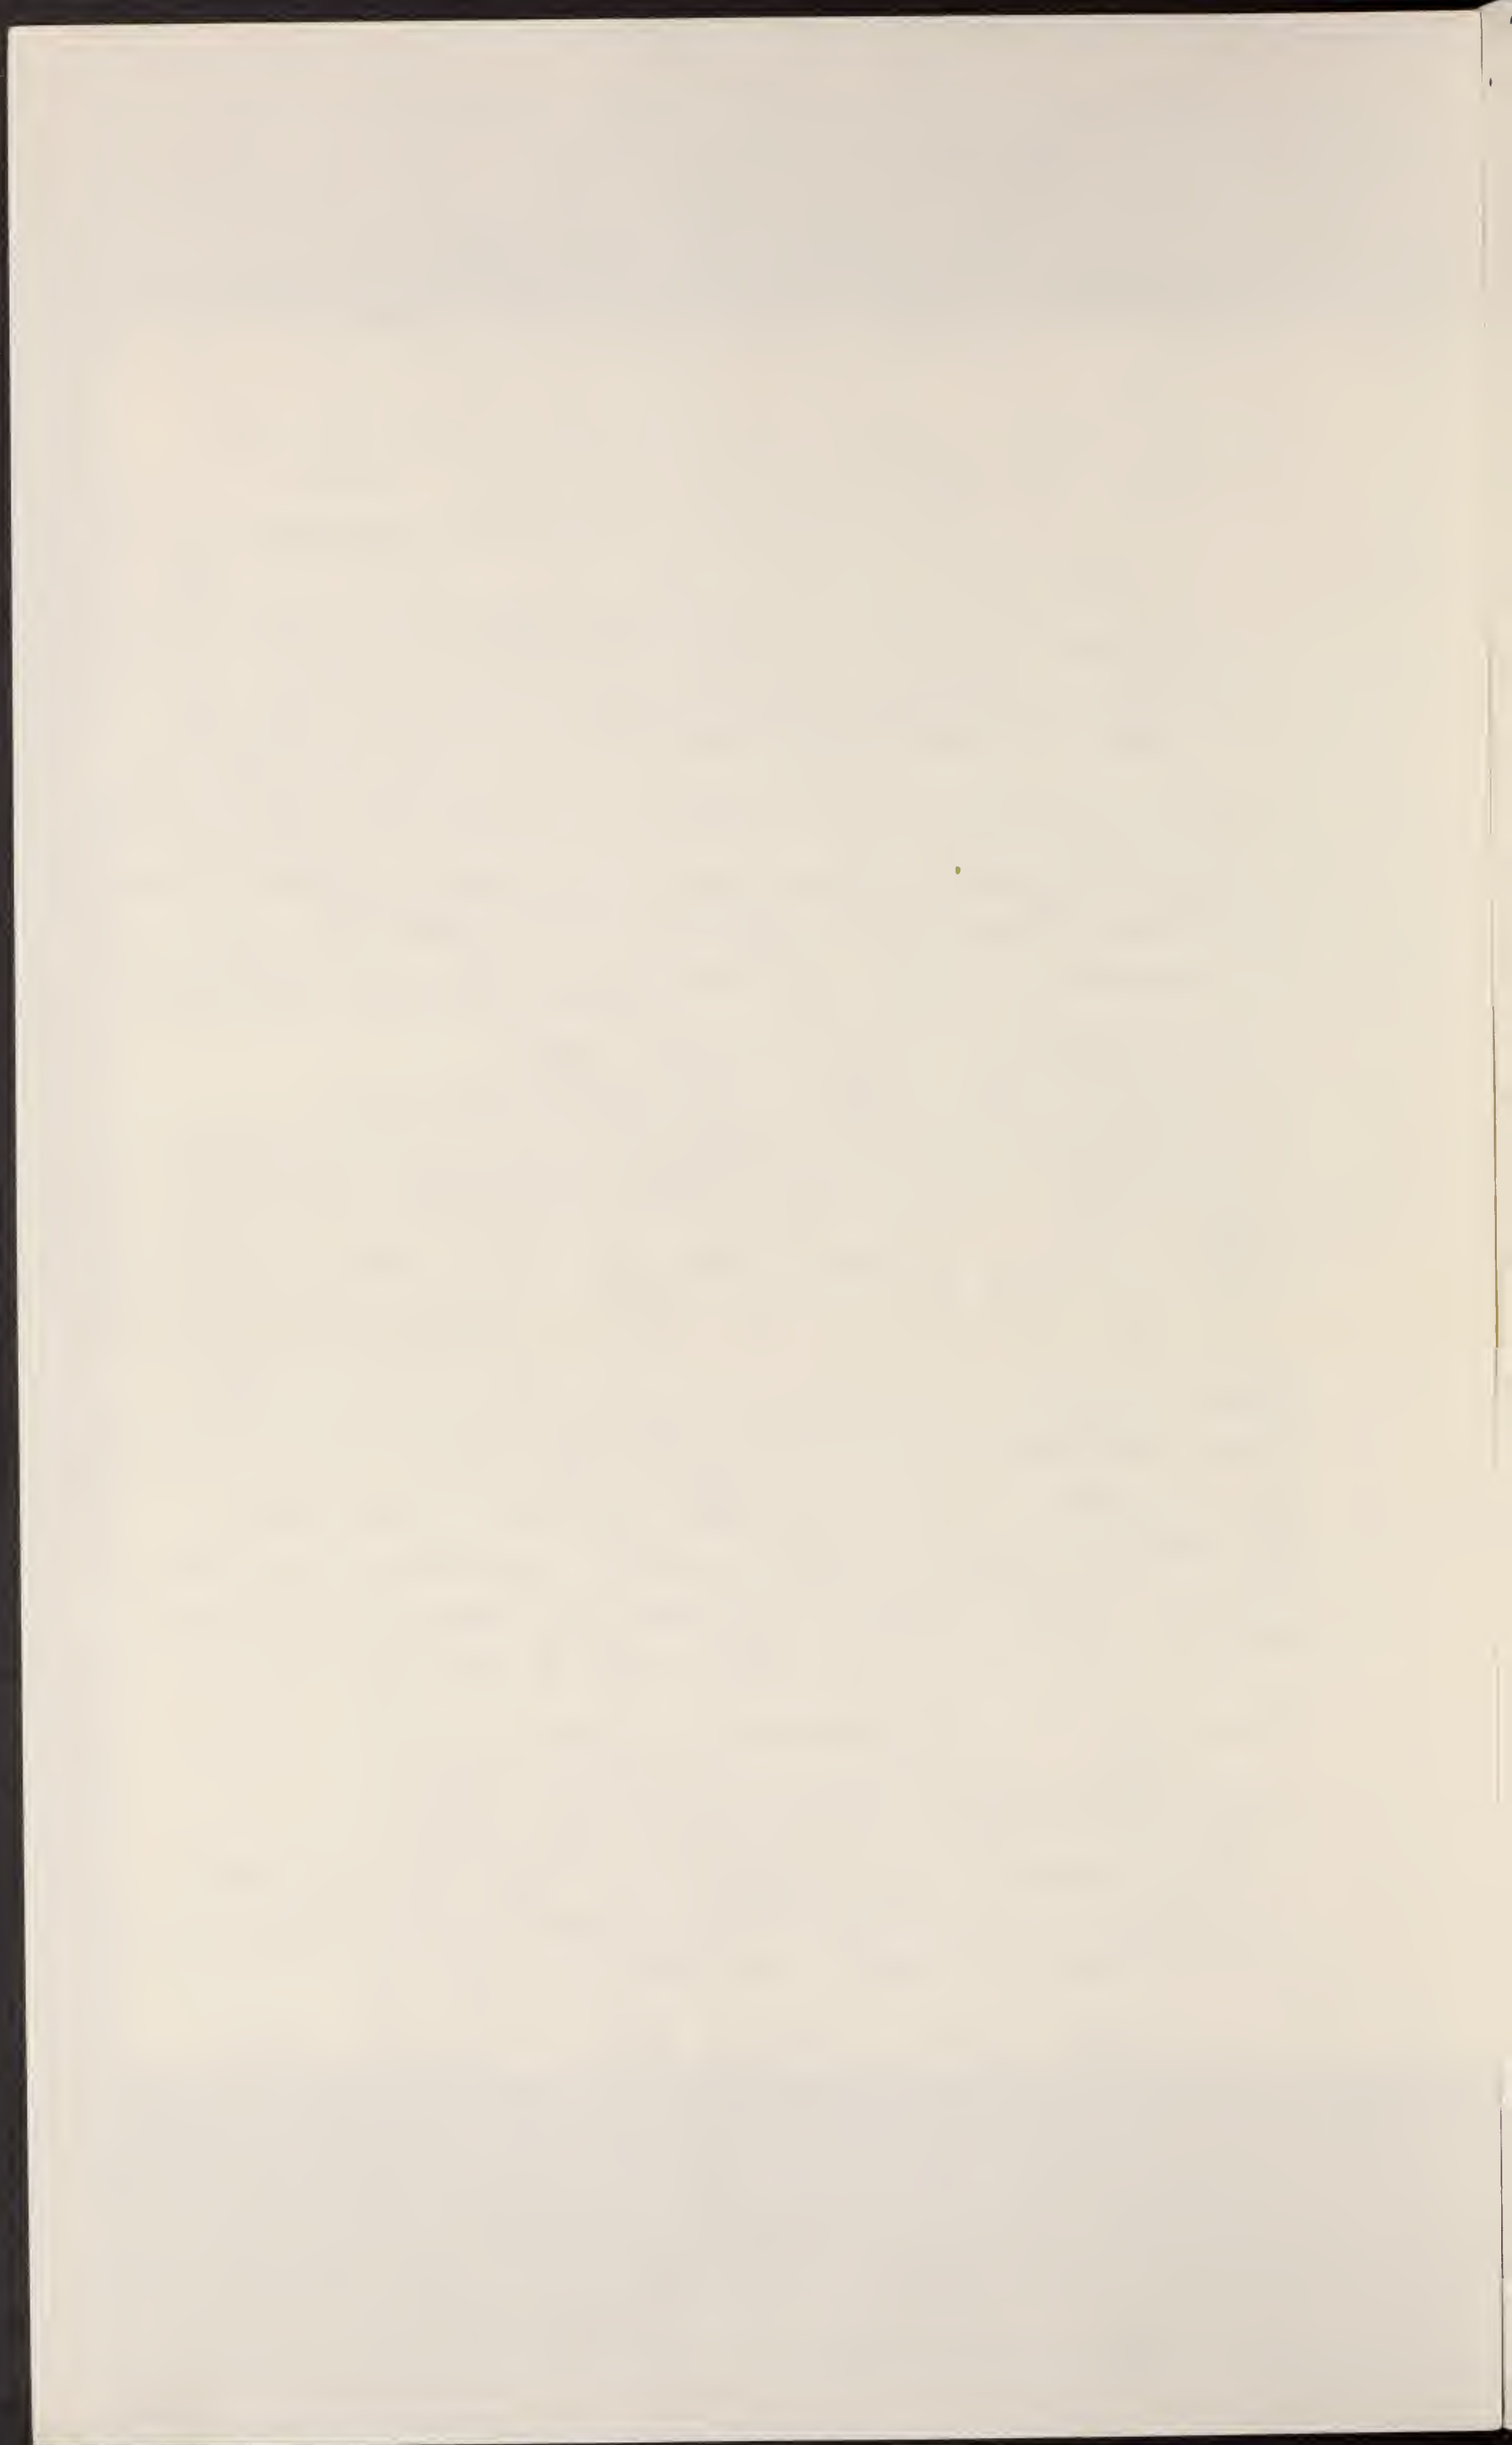

We know much about them, we've searched for them all

And Reginald Stuart put force in the ball.

The Angus spool a tangle left in Canada 1824
There with wife Catherine he vanished, no record was left of his line Perhaps he went westward or southward or northward or eastward, who knows?

Wholl ask and then tell us the story and write it all down ere it goes?

To Southborough
Canada
and founded 1959

William to Cattaraugus went and thus in New York was fair content;
He raised 2 girls and 7 boys, sons of whom sought far, flung

Young Margaret married Timothy Hinds, but of her son, ^{joys,} ^{lost the lines,} ^{Die}

Lying now in Collins with Mary and brother Hugh, behind the Quaker Church which points them out to you.

Christine and her husband MacDonald, named James

Are buried together in cemetery called Deans.

First rested their bones on the homestead of Hugh with a mountain behind them, Hudson river in view.

At Stony Creek, this farmland lay, by river's shore I haste to say.

Here too lies the sister Catherine who lived to be 86

Long living with Daniel her brother and practicing tailor's tricks.

At Daniel the youngest, I looked many times

His picture I had it, and e'er my thought climbs,

Now we have that pattern spread out for you and me
West they went, 'twas Oshkosh called, Wisconsin lumber sights to see.

And where does Hugh Wheeler hitch on to the line?

He's tied there, they tell me, with knots I can't find.

His mother was Nancy, not named in Hugh's will

She may have died early, hence lost in the mill.

So now look at "Gene", she's writing it down

For children, grandchildren, their children, the town.

For who are McMillens and why are they here?

And where are they going, and what will appear?

Few boys with our name, you will find in the book,

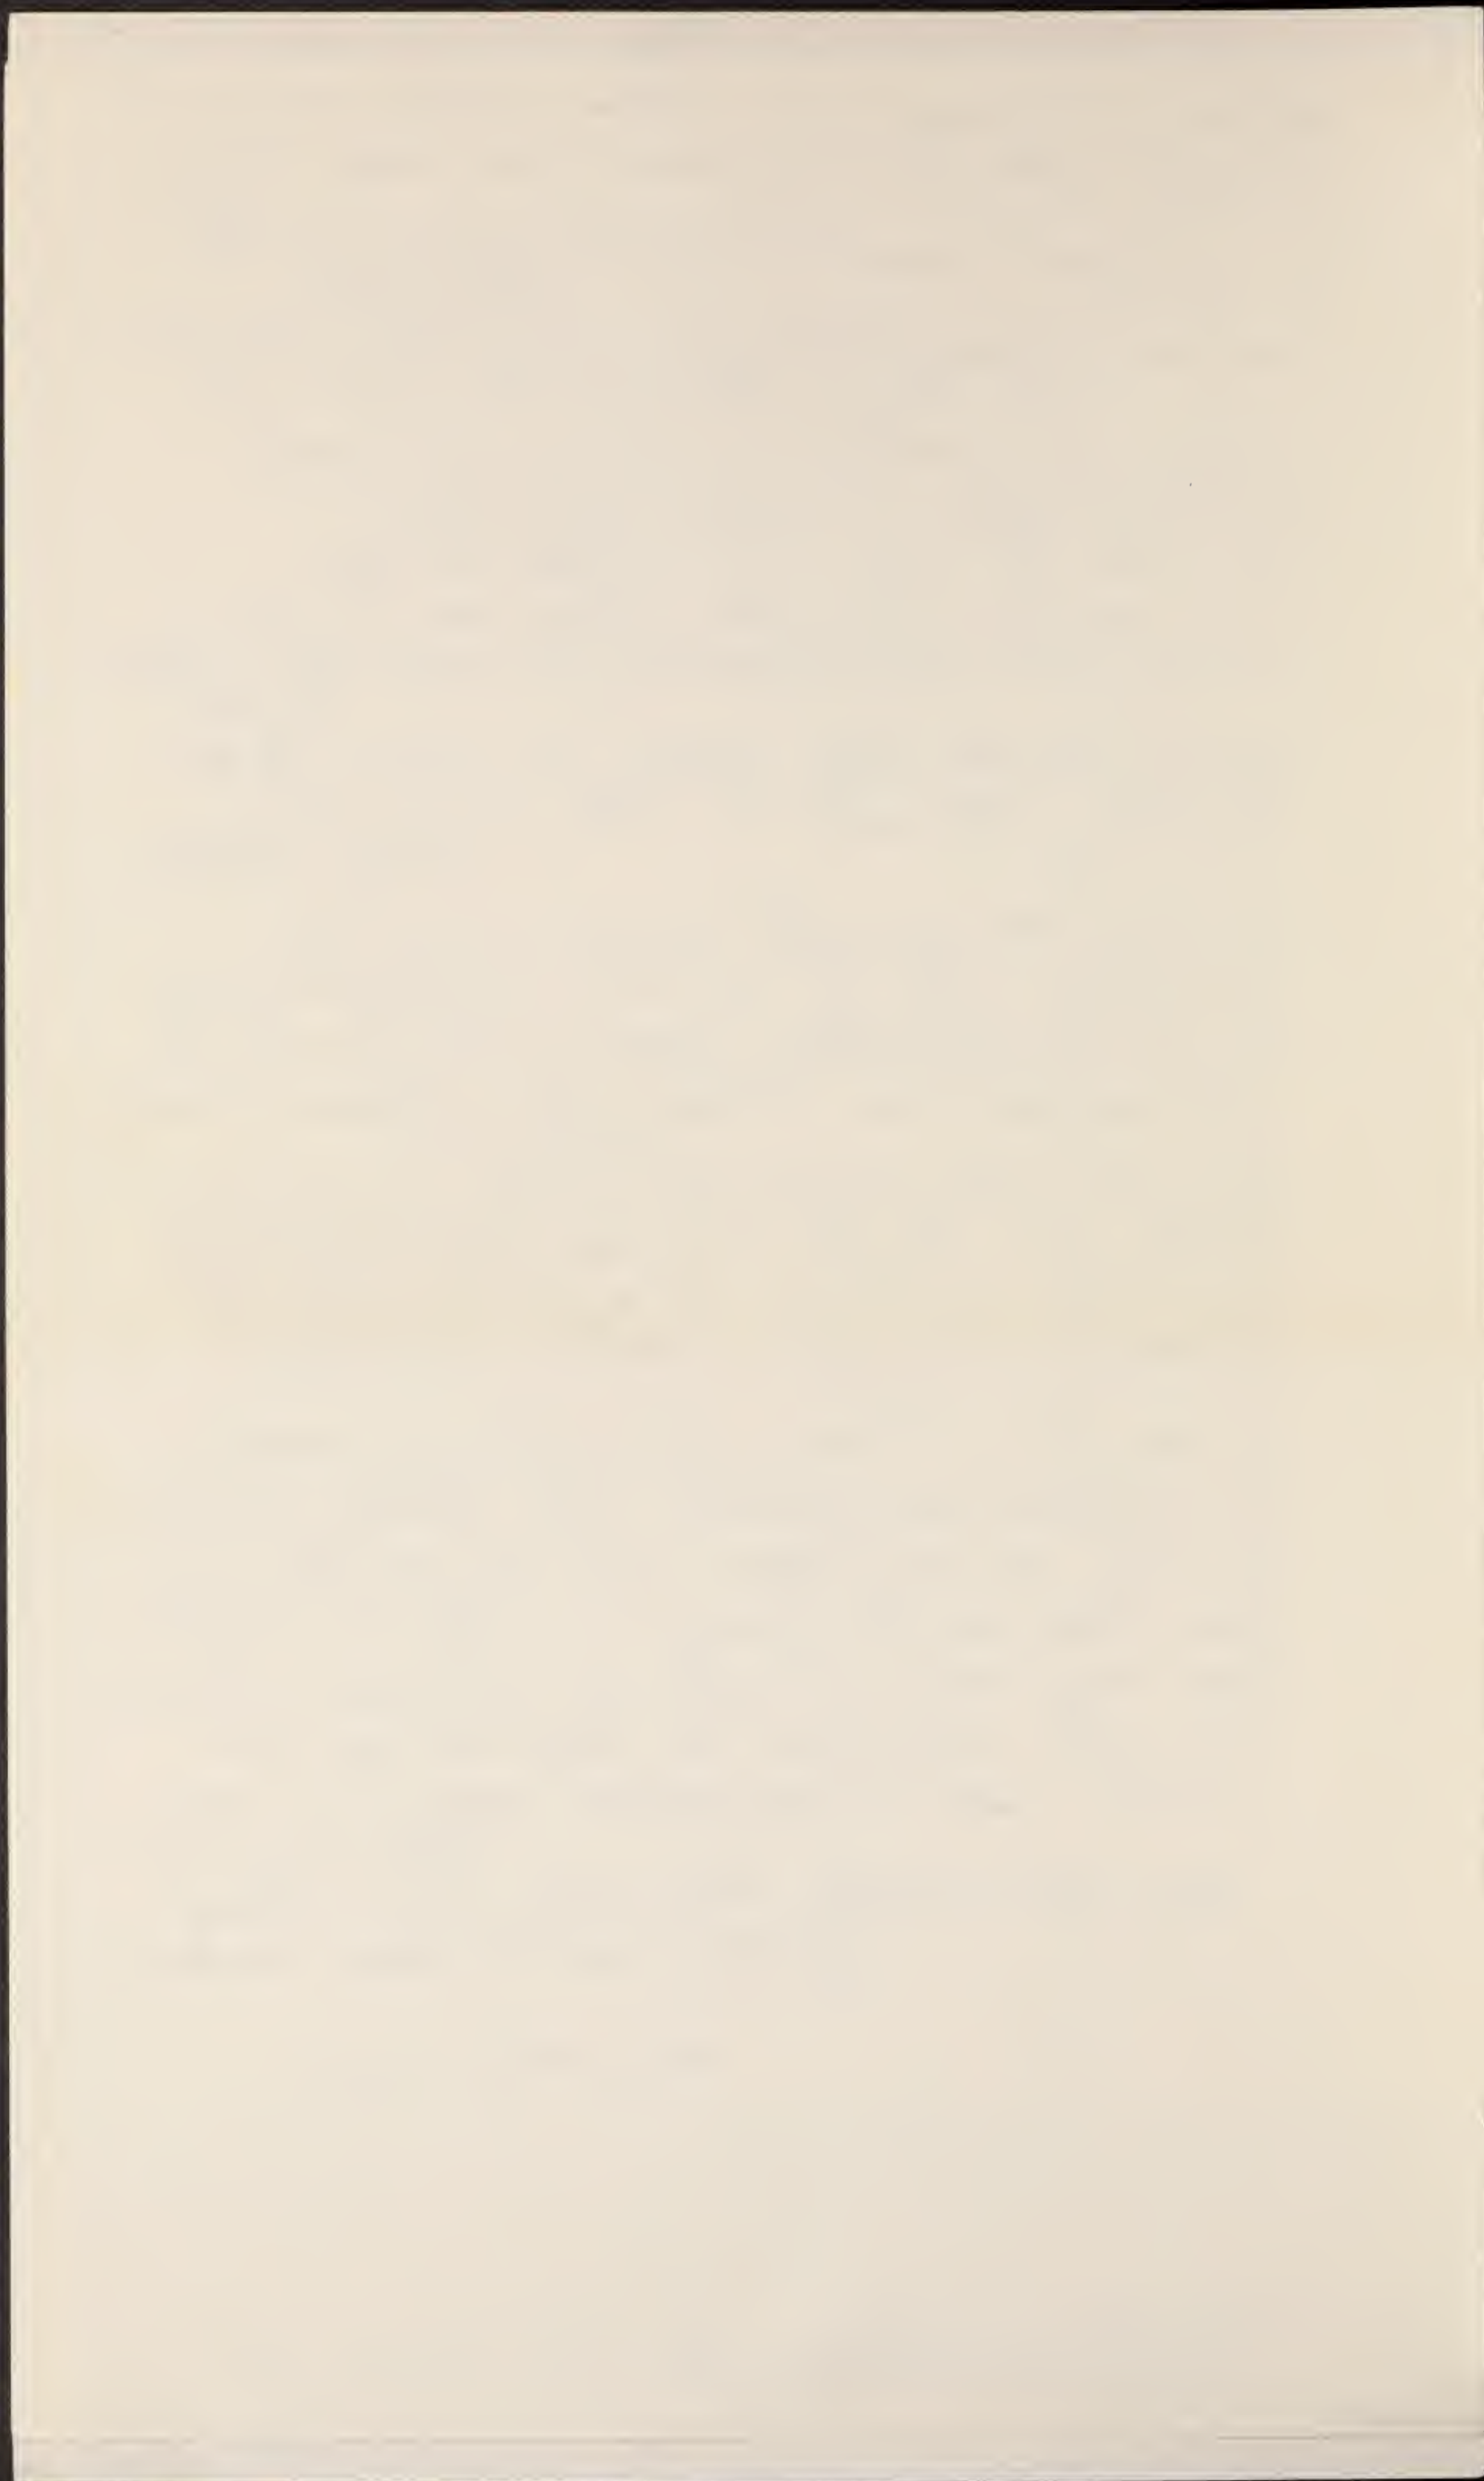

Far places called them. For what did they look?

Just to quell uneasy spirits, search for built,
ideals or fame?

From those spools that Hugh sent rolling always now the warp's the same.

came as a M.E.L. & received Lot 1.5 Marlborough.

Also their daughter Christy, m. John McGillis, came to Charlottenburg, and I am sure elder son, whose name I do not know, on discharge from Br. army, would remain here, the younger one was killed at siege of Gloucester.

1. Have you any information on these McMullans (or Mc Millans) --- or any suggestions where I can locate it. One of my great problems is to know where to locate inform.

2. There were 'hearings' held for M.E.L. who suffered losses. ~~due~~ to Revolution. Where can these be read?

3. Does the statement "Emig. from Ireland" mean that these people ~~returned~~ to Br. Isles. from America & then set out from Ireland for Canada. When they were on an Appendix it seems as though they were "after thoughts". Would there be correspondence re being established as U.S.L.? Where?

4. Are there any records available regarding these immigrants - as they entered America; ~~the~~ with any personal information, where they settled etc.?

5. Is there available a history of early Pr. Ed. Co.?

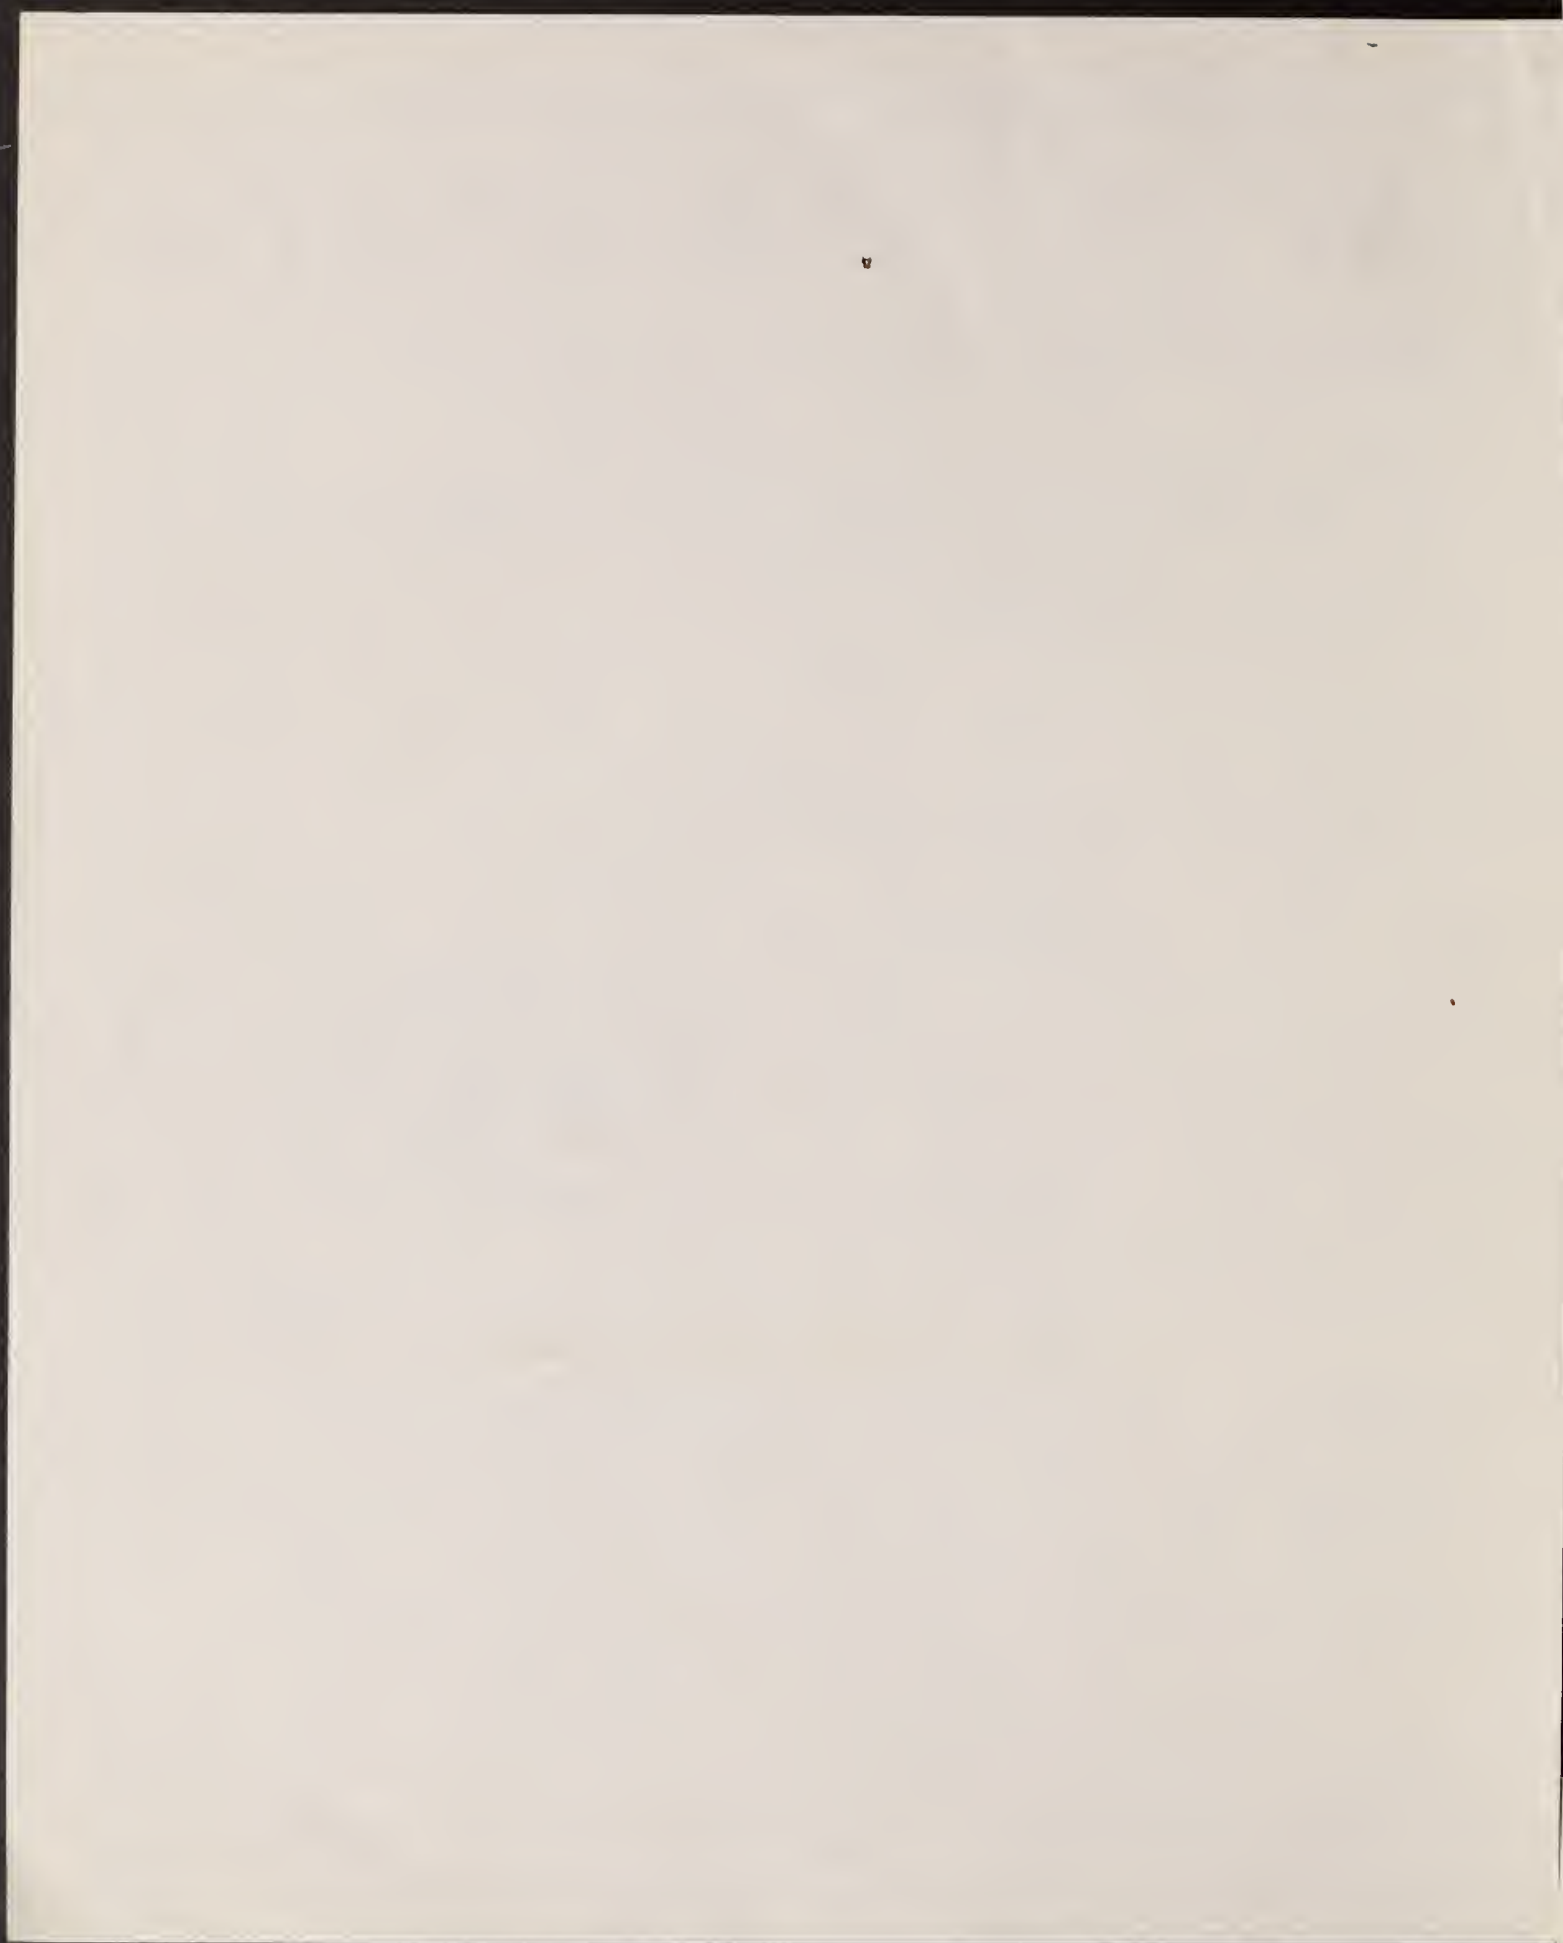

With many thanks,

Yours truly

Mrs C. A. Beaton.

104 Pine, Kingston, Ont. Feb. 18, 1974.

Dear Feuding Friend,

I sent to Ivanhoe for three birth dates, but have received no answer. Guess all are too busy. I probably could get them in the summer, but before then I might just be transmitted to that huge desk in the sky, where ball-points never run dry! So to get it in motion, am sending what I have, along with the other material I have promised you.

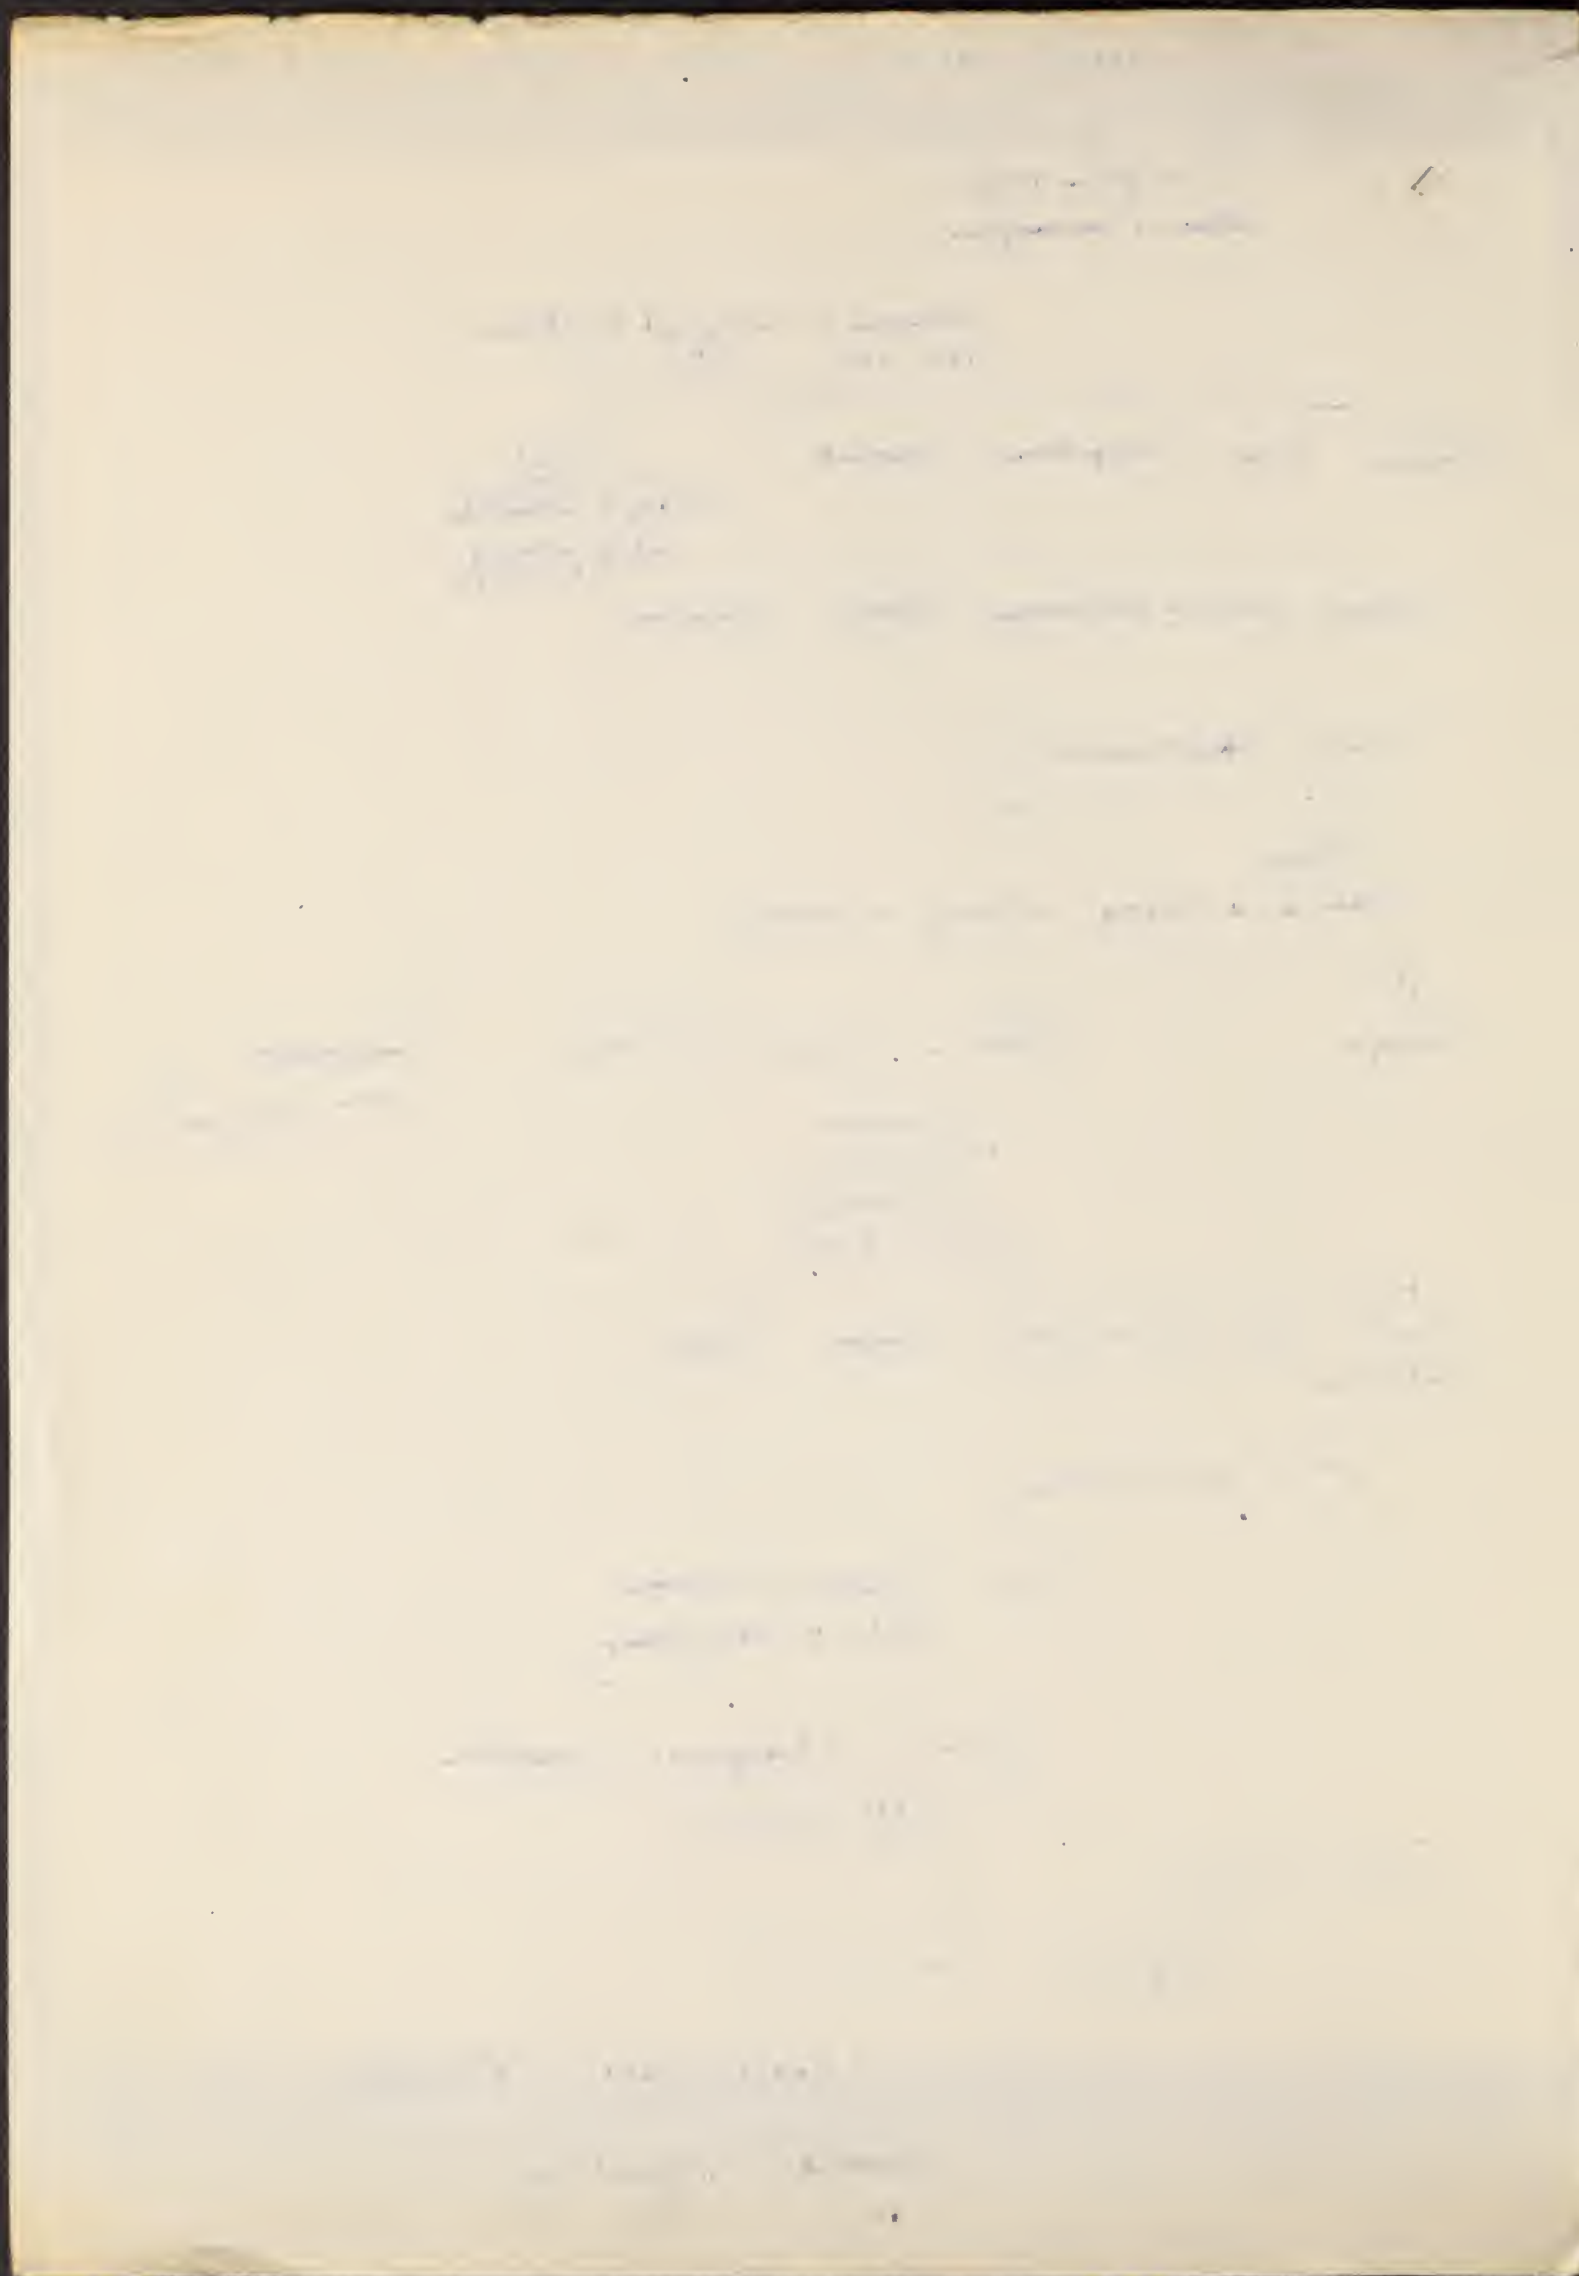

And because you have been interested enough to help, I send along a story for your new book.

You will see I have paved the way for more sales for your 1973 book. Took your book to an Educational Meeting (of Ratepayers) last month and introduced it to Mr. Nyland.

Thanks again

MRS. T. B. LEWIS

Following an illness of three months, Mrs. T. B. Lewis, Switzerville, passed away on February 2, 1959. The late Mrs. Lewis was a daughter of Anthony and Marcetta McMullen and was born in Centreville on April 21, 1866. As a young woman she spent several years in Rochester, N.Y. and was married in 1900 to the late Thomas B. Lewis.

Formerly a member of St. John's Anglican Church at Newburgh, she had for many years been a member of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene in Napanee and took an active part in the church Women's Guild as long as her health permitted.

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. C. D. Lochhead (Mabel), of Camden East, three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

She also leaves four stepchildren, W. Milton Lewis, at home; Mrs. A. B. McMullen (Laura), of Rochester, N.Y. Mrs. W. J. Armstrong (Etta), of Cherry Valley, and Percy H. Lewis, of Oswego, N.Y., also nine stepgrandchildren and 12 stepgreat-grandchildren.

Mrs. Lewis was predeceased by three brothers and three sisters, and is survived by two sister, Mrs. W. G. Martin (Victoria), of Orlando, Fla., Mrs. C. F. Lemmon (Maria), of Rochester, N.Y., and one brother, Alexander, of Rochester, N.Y.

The funeral service was held from her late home, Switzerville, to the church of St. Mary Magdalene, at Napanee, and was conducted by Rev. W. L. Simmons.

Interment was in the family plot in St. Luke's Cemetery, Camden East.

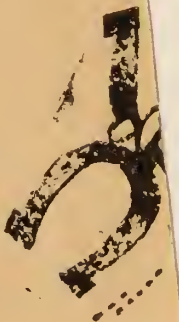

simultaneously. Sheila and Mcira Alford sang "He'll Understand," and a minstrel show followed, with the blackened characters being Merle Barker, Gerald McCaul, Peter Twigg, Alan Aylsworth and Ross Piercy. Songs featured were "Swanne River," "Back in Your Own Backyard," "Me and my Shadow," "Oh Susanna," "The Blind Plowman," "Old Black Joe," "Blue Moon," "Sweet Kentucky Babe," "Hard Times Come Agin No More," and "Beautiful Dreamer."

The program ended with the singing of the National Anthem, and then tea and the wonderful variety of pies were served to the large and appreciative audience.

The news of Mr. John McMullen's sudden demise early this morning caused great distress amongst his many friends on Amherst Island. For the past few weeks he was confined in Hotel Dieu, suffering from gangrene, a malady that caused him much trouble in the past. After trying all remedies without avail, the doctors at the hospital decided upon amputation as a last resource. Last week one foot was amputated above the ankle. The condition of affairs, however, was not improved; he grew weaker every day, till at last death released him from his suffering. Deceased was 69 years of age, and had long been one of our best citizens, respected by all. The family has the sympathy of all their friends.

Mrs. Elizabeth Schiller,
626 South Harvey Ave.,
Oak Park, Ill.

Dear Mrs. Schiller:

I am ashamed at myself for this delay in replying to your very interesting letter. I remember you and the girls very well, particularly your interest in The Island and the early families. It must have been fascinating for you to visit a place which you had envisioned in your mind from stories told to you by your father, particularly when it is Amherst Island. Life there is so very different from that to which you are accustomed in Chicago.

Now to reply to your queries.

Neil McMullen, born 1783, was not a native of Amherst Island. The census of 1851 states that he was born in Ireland. I often take the census man's statements with a grain of salt. What I mean is that he may have written that Neil was born in Ireland because the family was Irish, whereas, he may have been born in United States or Quebec Province shortly after the family arrived from the Old Land. In any event, he was not born on Amherst Island, as the settlers did not come to this part of the world until 1784, and there were no people on Amherst Island until about 1792.

I do not know for certain who his parents were. The father certainly must have been one of those Treasury Loyalists by the name of McMullin. I think you copied them--John, Alexander, Angus, Patrick, and Hugh. His mother may have been Catherine Devaney. In my notes I have something about a Rosanna McMullen who married Edward Howard in 1802. Among the children of Edward and Rosanna was a Catherine Devaney Howard who was named after Rosanna's (her grandmother) mother. According to the Census of 1851, Rosanna was born in 1775, while Neil was born in 1783. If it can be proved that Rosanna and Neil were siblings, then Neil's mother was this same Catherine Devaney, the wife of a McMullen.

Among those who applied for land from 1791 to 1798, in Ontario, were Catherine, Hugh and John McMullen. Perhaps if you were able to obtain photostatic copies of these petitions they might furnish further information.

John McMillan received 1200 acres by petition 30 May, 1793, for himself and five sons.

Hugh McMullen applied for 200 acres 14 June, 1798.

Catherine McMullen's first petition was reviewed 9 Dec., 1791. Her second petition 12 July, 1797, gave her 200 acres.

Photostatic copies can be obtained from the Public Archives of Canada, Ottawa, Can.

I assume that you would receive a favorable reply from the above address. To people outside of Canada they might have a different policy than that for Canadians. You can do no less than try.

I have thought of something. It is possible that Rosanna McMullen who married Edward Howard may have been a widow McMullen. This should be kept in mind.

I hope that this letter is a help. I also hope that you will give my best regards to those two pretty girls you had with you last Summer.

Yours sincerely,

W. C. Burleigh

The Tin Dipper

The stories told to me by my mother, when I was a small child have influenced my life - to a point. Goldilocks made the three bears quite human and loveable; Alice in Wonderland took me into the fantastic world of make-believe; the story of Anneka Jantz was tantamount to winning a Sweep-stake prize. Only this was no fairy story. Anneka Jantz was a real person - a daughter of King William of Orange. But she had married a commoner and consequently was banished to the New World. She received a small annuity and a large tract of land, which is now in the centre of New York City.

Down through the generations, the belief was that her property had been expropriated by a church, had never been paid for, and no deed had changed hands. Descendants tried for years to recover the value of the property. At different times my great great uncle, George Horning, sent money in answer to a lawyer's encouraging letter. My mother, Artilla Richards (d.1923) declared he was simply sending good money after bad, but my great great aunt, a descendant of United Empire Loyalist, Nazareth Hill, made a deposition in 1861, to the effect that she still claimed her share.

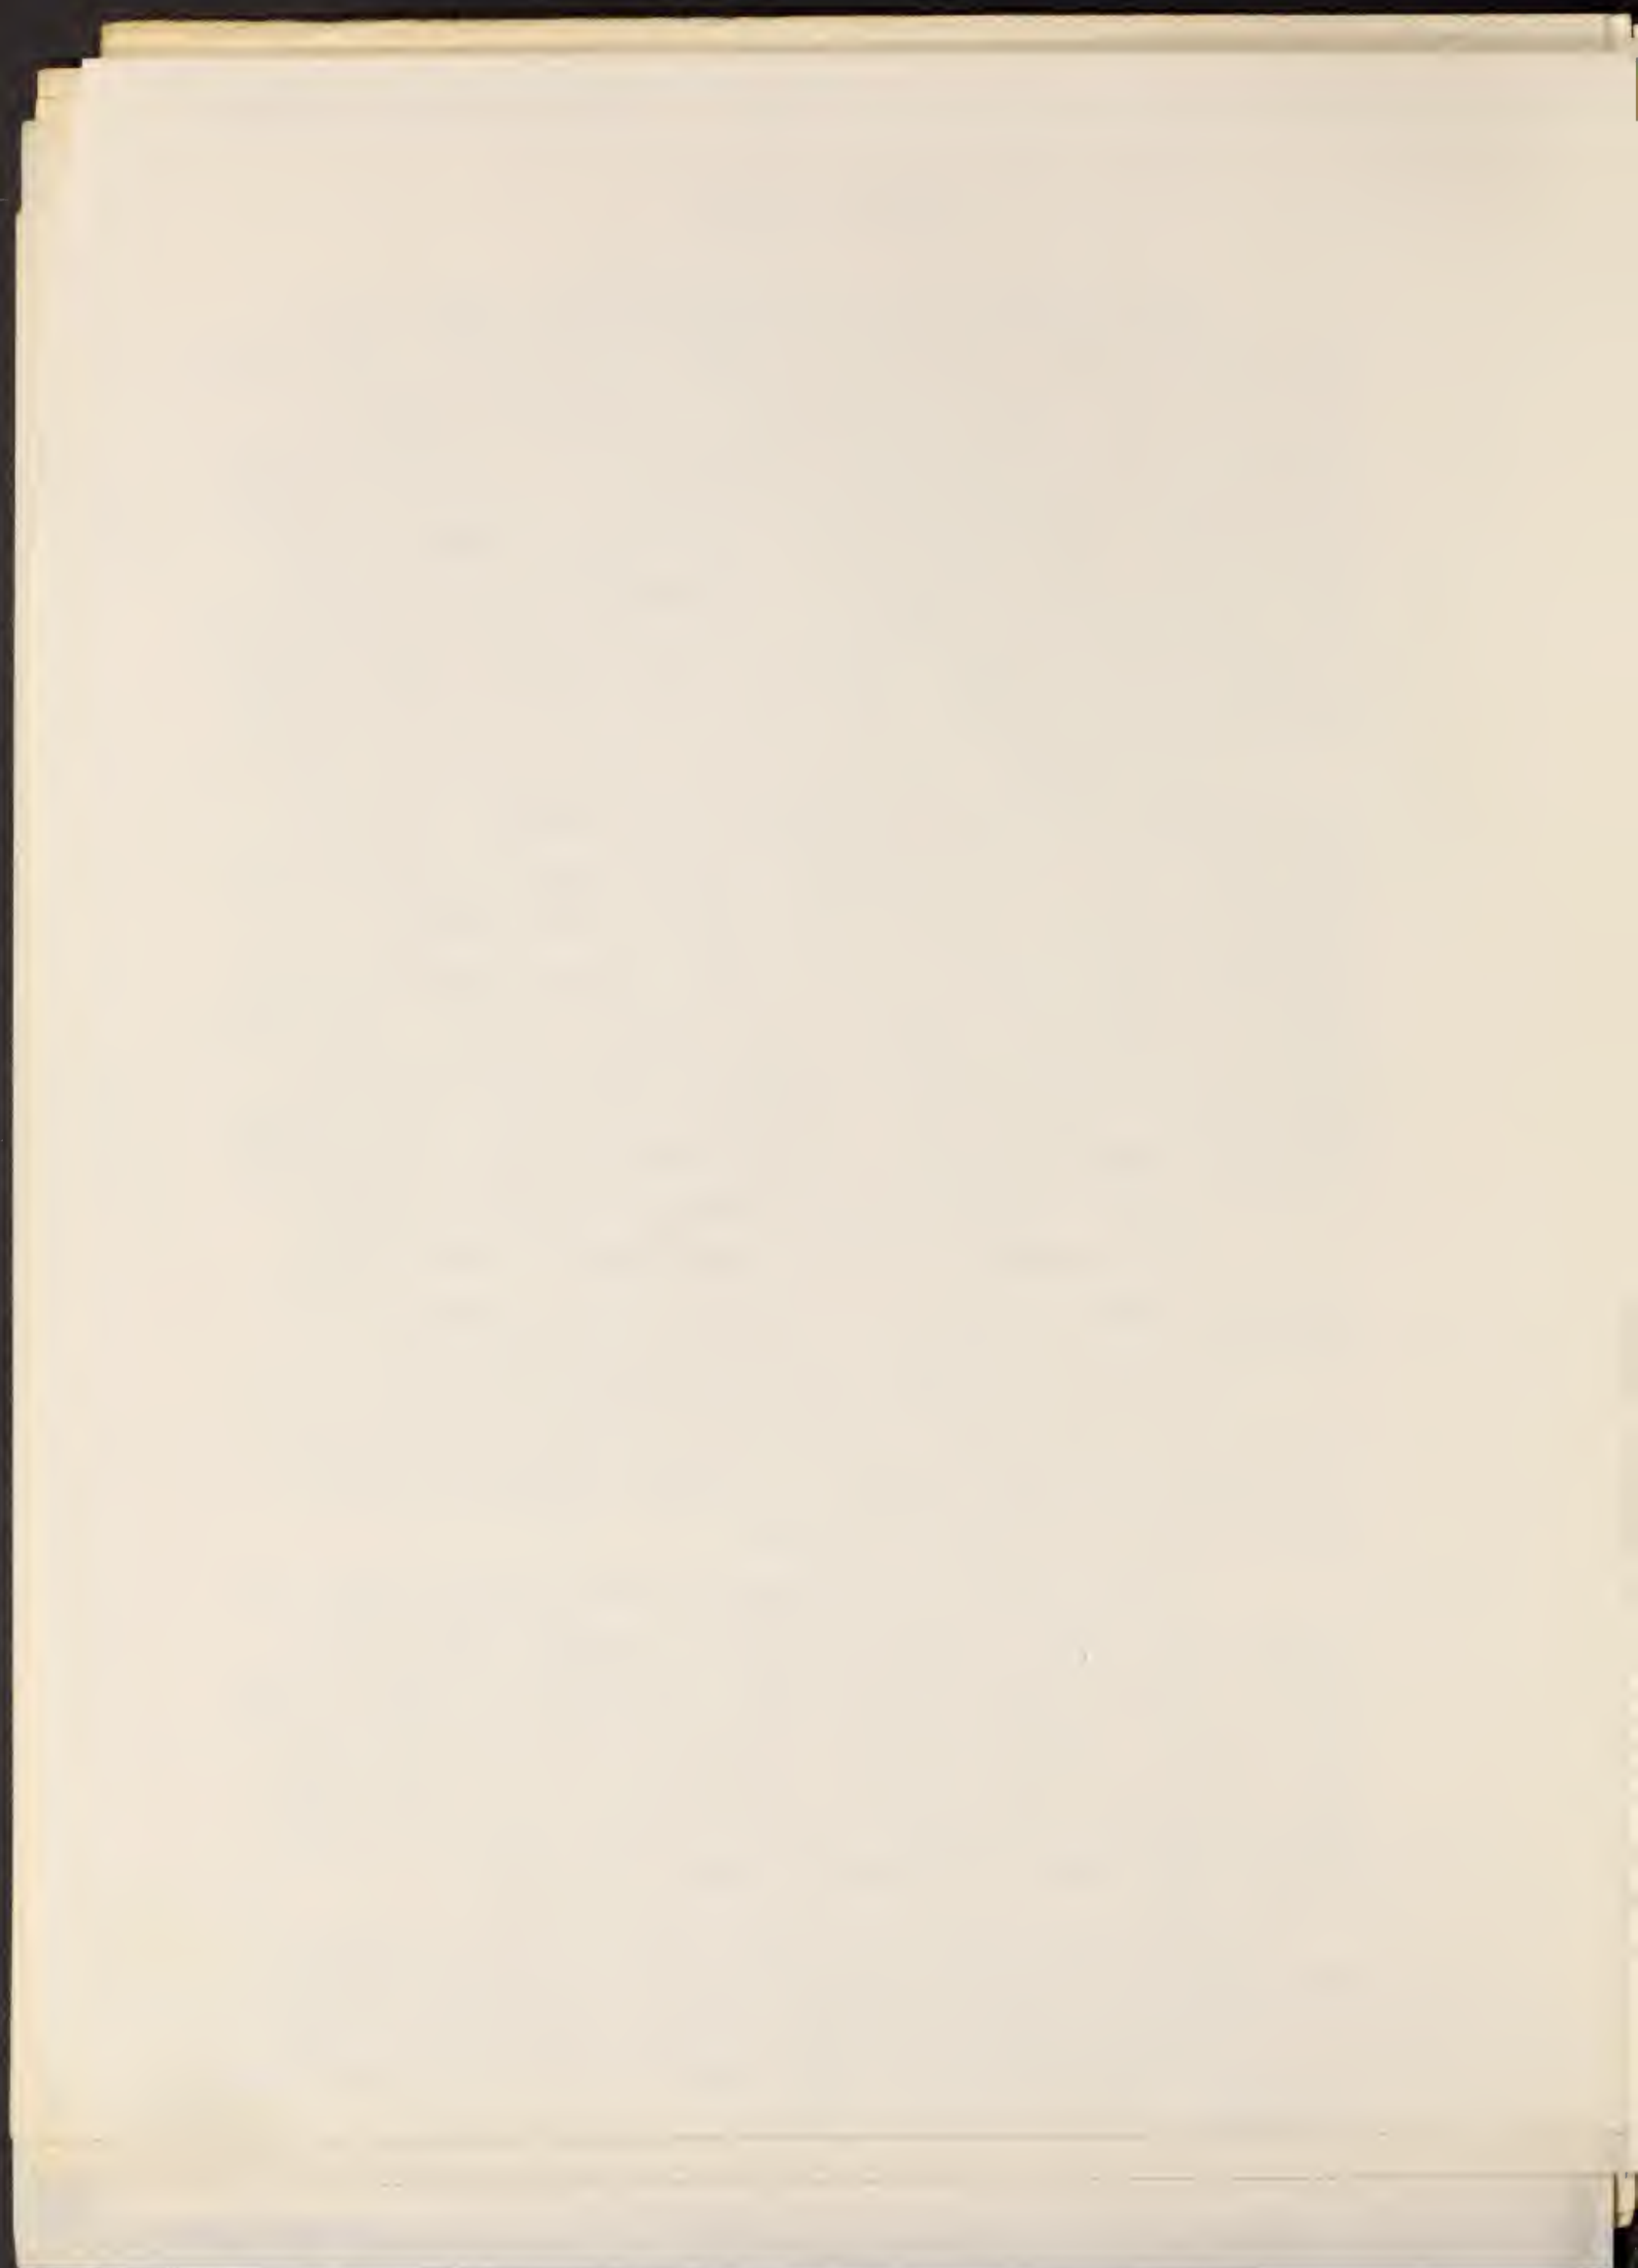

There would be so many descendants to-day that an individual share would not be worth a dime - even at the inflated value of property in central New York City.

As we grew older, instead of "waiting for our ship to come in", it became a joke to tell of our anticipated inheritance of "Annie Kajans" (children simplify names!) - and the hope of a new tin dipper.

At the turn of the century, every country home had a water pail with a long-handled tin dipper, which within several months rusted beyond use. My father, a first class stone mason, worked six days a week from dawn to dusk to earn twelve dollars a week. His wages were so very carefully handled by my mother, that even the price of a new dipper could make a noticeable dent in his pay.

Bless her heart, she never did get her tin dipper, and outside of a museum, where would you find one to-day!

And yet at every family reunion, some one is bound to mention the "pie-in-the-sky" hope of eventually obtaining ~~his share of~~ Annie Kajan's fortune - and just maybe a tin dipper.

Dear Dr. Burleigh:

I hope that you are enjoying good health. I understand that you were called over to care for my Aunt last autumn while she was staying on the island. She is doing quite well but the Doctor here discouraged her from going up there again this year.

As I told you before, I have continued searching for information about the McMullen family. Genealogies exist because some member of a family was interested enough to do the work and I am self-appointed.

I thought you might be interested in the following information: Pearson's Genealogies of the First Settlers of Albany, N.Y. - McMullen, Hugh and Rosanna - child John, born Aug. 9, 1777. McMullen, John and Agnes Gordon, - child Alexander, born Dec. 20, 1789. Don't you think there is a great possibility it is the same Hugh and Rosanna you mentioned to me? Also, from the Rev. John Langhorn's register the following: Mary McMullen - witness to the marriage of Colin McKenzie, Amherst Isle, and Mary Howard, same, April 15, 1794.

I don't believe that I will be able to get up to the Island this summer, although I would love to. My husband is confined in a sanatorium - suddenly my private little world was destroyed. Now, more than ever, I feel the need to enjoy the peace and quiet of that old house up there and be able to gaze out upon the water. It soon spread all over the Island that I sat out there at five in the morning, drinking my coffee and looking at the water. Perhaps, if they had spent their lives in a large city they would understand, but I can just see them scratching their heads in wonderment. They were all so friendly and kind to me and I think it was because they knew how much I loved their Island, and I enjoyed their company too. As you told me, and you were so right, "Once an Islander, always an Islander."

Hope you enjoy the bit of information and that you and Mrs. Burleigh have continued good health and happiness.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Schiller

Mrs. James J. Schiller

P.S. The two little girls I brought over to you when one fell and cut her face, have grown as little girls will. Naida is entering her 3rd year in College and Rosemary her second. You charmed them and they have never forgotten you.

BRIDES OF THE HOUR

TOBEY—McMULLEN.

At the splendid home of the groom's parents, Main St. E. on Monday afternoon, Miss Zeita Tobey, daughter of the late A. C. Tobey, of Picton became the bride of Ralph McMullen son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McMullen. The wedding was at two o'clock. Rev. Dr. Shorey of Cobourg, an uncle of the groom officiated.

The wedding was quite informal but the details were carried out in exceedingly pretty fashion.

Mrs. H. U. Tobey played the wedding march, and the young couple came down the wide stairway, together, and entered the drawing room. Here at one end stood Dr. Shorey, in a veritable bank of palms and lovely white bridal wreath. There was a wealth of the bridal wreath everywhere making of the room a bower of flowers. The young couple were unattended.

The fair young bride wore a mustard colored suit. Her hat was of milan straw trimmed with a huge willow plume in the lighter mustard shade, and caught with an oriental buckle. She carried a shower of mauve sweet peas.

The nuptial knot tied luncheon was served to the guests, at the small tables in the dining room and library. The brides' table was centered with a mass of lilies of the valley.

Rev. Dr. Shorey proposed the health of the bride in a very happy manner, and Mr. McMullen replied very nicely for "my wife".

At five o'clock the young couple motored to Belleville from where they start on a trip to Quebec and Saguenay. Mrs. McMullen travelled in a dark blue suit, with hat to match.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. McMullen will spend the summer on Beaver Meadow farm, East Lake Rd. and in the fall it is expected they will go abroad that Mr. McMullen may further his art studies.

EVERYTHING LOOKS FINE.

G. G. Publow, inspector of cheese factories, who last week toured Prince Edward County, says the country is looking fine and the cheese prospects are very bright. The cattle are now revelling in the fresh meadows.

ADMIRABLE WRITING

Sir: I do not always agree with Dennis Patrick Sears, particularly when he gets out of his depth philosophically and theologically. But I do admire the way he writes. His recent descriptions of the world of nature have been superb, and some of them could easily have gone into a text book for high schools to show students, and I suspect some teachers, how to write the English language.

Dec. 12/73

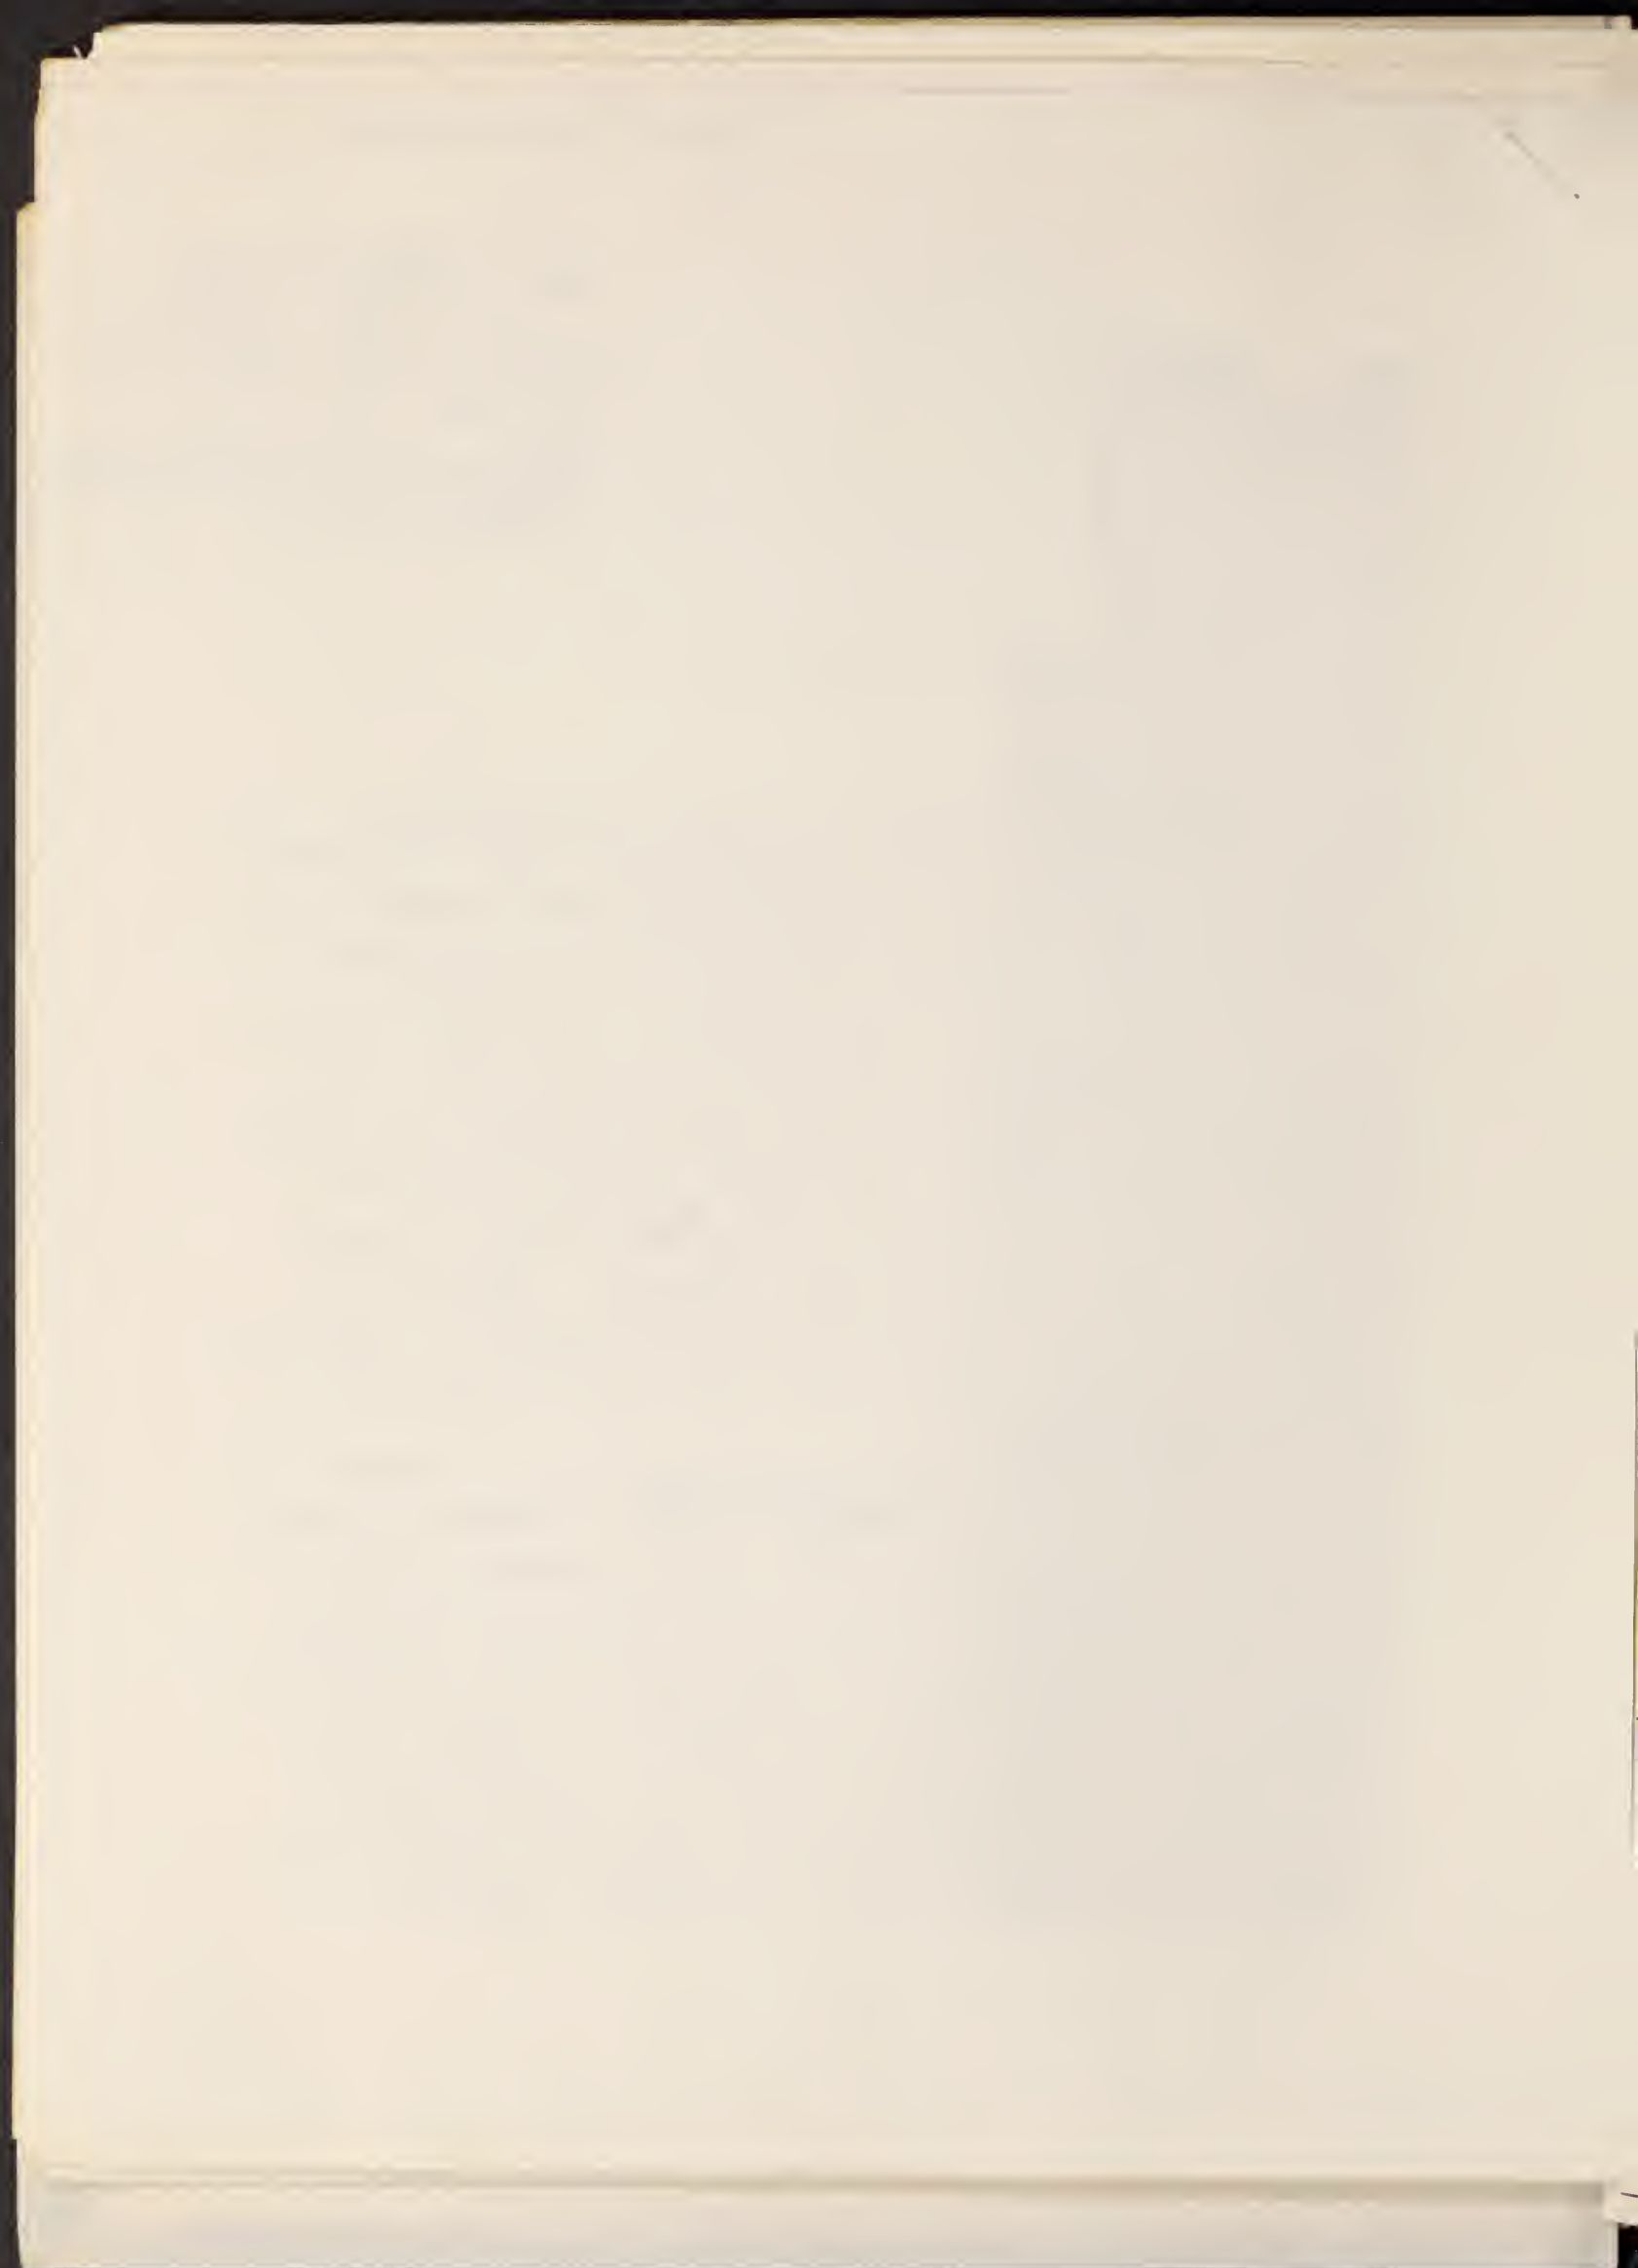

ELIAS ANDREWS

Mr. Andrews is ex-Principal of the Theological College at Queen's, now a Professor of New Testament Literature

The above letter was printed in the December 12, 1973 issue of "The Whig Standard", and supports what I have been advocating for years - the teaching of proper English to students in all Elementary Schools, and in all High Schools.

I told a Grade XI student that I had split an infinitive in a paper in Modern English (Extension - Queen's University). She asked, "What is an infinitive?" I saw a Grade X essay, marked $\frac{5}{5}$, and it was unbelievable the number of misspelled words and grammatical errors it contained. To me, it is a crime that a teacher should build a false foundation for a student's future writing. Content of a paper is important, but learning how to present an idea is equally essential. Ask of any University professor his views on this subject.

Many books by foreign writers are in our school libraries. I suggest two ~~more~~ ^{from Canadians} be added. "Forgotten Leaves of Local History" written by Dr. H.C. Burleigh, a local Canadian, encompasses Literature, Geography, History and the Humanities; as a text-book it is invaluable. Ancient History or British History is interesting, but why not learn of our local history? Mr. Dennis T. Patrick Sears is a superb - and sensitive writer in a lighter and more romantic vein. His words may not rhyme, but they are pure poetry - reminiscent of Keats and Spenser. Must we go to the four corners of the earth, when we have an unrivalled writer living in our country? As suggested by Professor E. Andrews, a collection of his articles in book form would be a valuable asset to both students and teachers in every Canadian school. These two books might replace some of the trashy reading offered to-day. Are you listening Doubleday or McGraw Hill Ryerson?

Am also enclosing a brief, which I sent several years ago to the Ontario Department of Education, and to several School Boards, emphasizing the dearth of good English in our schools.

In 1969 I established a Creative Writing Award at Sydenham High School, hoping that the written word could be elevated to the standard achieved in that school at the turn of the century. No lapse of grammar or spelling was overlooked, and I have the scars on my ego to prove it

Mrs. Mary Lytle, the oldest woman in North Michigan, died at the home of her son, James Lytle, Alpena, Mich., April 27th. Deceased was born in Kingston January 1800, making her age 104 years. She went to Alpena from Amherst Island seventeen years ago. Mrs. Lytle was remarkably bright and active up to last year, when she was confined to her bed. She remembered well the war of 1812, and moving to Amherst Island in 1815. She lived with Mr. McMullen there when there were only three log houses on the Island. Mrs. James Baker, of Odessa, Mrs. Henry Weitgof of Rochester, N. Y.; Patrick Lytle, of Hoquiam, Washington, & James Lytle, with whom she lived, are her surviving children. The funeral was held from St. Bernard's Church, Alpena, Mich.

Dear Dr. Burleigh:

Last summer I visited Amherst Island for the first time and needless to say it enchanted me. My Dad left there when he was 18 and never returned. All my life I had listened to him describe it and I know he always yearned to go back. A large family and circumstances prevented him from doing so. So it was especially meaningful for me.

You will perhaps remember that I brought Rosemary

Mc Mullen over to you after she had cut her face on the rocks. At that time I copied down the information you had on the Mc Mullens. This started me off on a fascinating hobby and also created a new interest in history. I began to read everything I could find on the American Revolution and discovered I had known or been taught only one side of the story. I scarcely knew that Loyalists existed. So you see what that visit opened up for me.

In recording the information I obtained from you - there are certain facts that puzzle me.

I will show you the facts I have and perhaps you could enlighten me.

Neil Mc Mullen - Bridget Macauley
born 1783

|

Frank Mc Mullen - Marion Tarbell
born 1829

Lawrence Mc Mullen (my father)
1871

First of all, was Neil Mc Mullen born on Amherst Island in 1783?
and do you happen to know his parents names? From the census of 1851 it shows an Aeneas Mc Mullen age 80, living with the Neil Mc Mullens was he a brother of Neil?

I hope if you find the time you will send me this information. We hope to come again next summer if at all

possible as the island seems to have a strong magnetism for me and my children.

I hope you and your wife are enjoying the best of health and well-being in this new year.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Schiller
(Mrs James J. Schiller)
